COAST TO COAST

BY HY GARDNER

Bob Christenberry pulled a funny line at the Blue Barron Astor Roof opening last night. Strolling to the outdoor cafe everybody glanced to watch the thousands of moths attracted by the beam of an advertising searchlight. The commissioner shrugged and commented: "Billy Rose must have opened his wallet!"

Aly Khan created quite a furor at the 247 Park Ave. showrooms of Cris-Craft yesterday afternoon. He was just ordering accessories for his twenty-four-foot cruiser now dry-docked in Florida waters—a mighty handy gimmick on which to enjoy a second honeymoon. Another headline is brewing in Washington. According to my report, Adm. Alan Goodrich Kirk, former Ambassador to Russia, will head up the Psychological Warfare Strategy Board of the Central Intelligence Agency. He'll replace Raymond Allen. Kirk presently is chairman of the American Committee for the Liberation of the Peoples of Russia. . . . Bogey man Boris Karloff is spending his spare time in England lecturing to children on botany and biology.
